The Event Management programme at Stenden Rangsit University aims at implementing the students' theoretical knowledge in a project-based structure where students work in groups of 5 to 6 with a client from the industry to organize an event. Most of the 100 students per year who study with Stenden Rangsit University and work on events in Thailand are from our sister campus in The Netherlands. The structure of the programme is not a lecture-type class but a role-play where industry representatives guide students by representing the client of the PCO, PEO or Incentive House. If you are interested to join the programme as a client and work with groups of international students, contact SRU at jens.dallmann@stenden.com.
